

Frank Butler

A chemical engineer, Frank Butler has worked in a range of business roles that culminated with the presidency of Eastman Gelatin Co., in Peabody, MA, and the national presidency of the Gelatin Manufacturers Institute of America. His business success never swayed him from Jesus' teachings about material goods and servanthood, and he and his wife, Ruth, have lived lives of material simplicity and generosity of time and money. Frank is a long-time board member of Faith and Money Network and has contributed his insights and time to many other organizations, including Business Leaders for Sensible Priorities, Responsible Wealth, and Faith at Work.